DIVING INTO HISTORY

After losing the American War of Independence in 1783, and with no American ports at their disposal, Britain sought a port in the mid-Atlantic, between Halifax and the West Indies, from which it could face off America and France and also easily access its interests in the Caribbean. Bermuda's central geographic position made it a prime choice. In 1809, enslaved people laid the first local stones that would become Royal Naval Dockyard's foundation; and convicts from Britain followed as the next wave of labourers after emancipation. From the War of 1812 until just after World War II, Royal Naval Dockyard and the base played an integral role in strategic defence for Britain. It wasn't until 1951 that the Royal Navy officially pulled out from Bermuda. In the first years after the Bermuda government purchased Dockyard in 1953, the area saw little use and began to fall into disrepair. But soon enough, plans were set in motion to preserve Dockyard as a public gathering ground and park.

A NEW ADDITION: CROSS ISLAND

The nine-acre land mass in Dockyard's South Basin, once a hub for the flurry of activity that came with hosting the 35th America's Cup, is finding promise in its new purpose. Cross Island now serves as a hub for Savvy Entertainment, which hosted the Poseidon Games, a global Hydroflight competition, at the island in 2018. Also, in 2018, Savvy transformed Land Rover BAR's former Cross Island boat shed, now dubbed The Shed, into Bermuda's largest indoor event venue hosting large-scale events such as Syzygy, a one-night concert event featuring reggae and soca heavyweights like Bunji Garlin and Sizzla Kalonji. Savvy also rents Cross Island and The Shed to event organisers, breathing new life into the former America's Cup home.

The America's Cup also left behind the great legacy of its Endeavour Program, which is headquartered in Dockyard. The programme provides sailing instruction as well as education on a range of related subjects and could very well lead to young Bermudians becoming world-class sailors in their own right.

IMMERSE YOURSELF

Twenty-somethings are eschewing catching up over cocktails in favour of immersive experiences that thrill and challenge, like virtual reality and escape rooms. Royal Naval Dockyard boasts both. Vista View Virtual Tours, set to open sometime in 2019, describes the experience it will offer as a 21st-century simulated theatre and entertainment attraction offering virtual reality experiences, motion simulator games and special feature interactive rides that will promote and celebrate Bermuda's history, attractions and culture. Locked on the Rock, Dockyard's escape room experience, challenges groups of friends to find the clues and solve the puzzles that will allow them to escape as the clock ticks down. The Tucker's Cross escape is based on a 50-yearold mystery, whilst the Cupmatch

Hangover scenario begins as the island's biggest holiday ends.

"Not only is this a bonding experience and a thrilling puzzle for participants to solve, but it is entirely unique because you can learn something about Bermuda at the same time, as each room is designed to showcase elements of Bermuda," said WEDCO Marketing & Events Manager Stephanie Rodill.

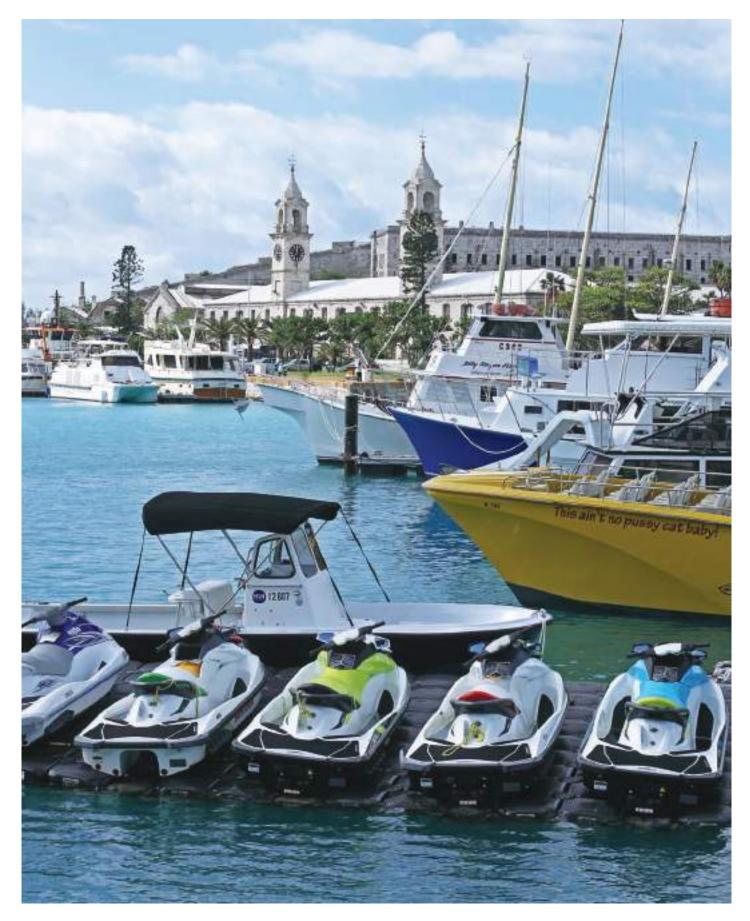

Another fun interactive experience at Dockyard will have you feeling like a kid again — the FryDay's Trampoline Park, the only venue of its kind in Bermuda, is in the historic Sail Loft Building right behind Clocktower Shopping Mall. From exercise jump classes to arcade games and a custom-built piratethemed miniature bowling alley, FryDay's offers the kind of sweet thrill that brings families together. Visitors can take advantage of the free train shuttle within Dockyard when cruise ships are in port.

GETTING THERE 8 AROUND

Royal Naval Dockyard is easily accessible by scooter or electric car; by minibus or taxi; via Bermuda's iconic pink Bermuda Breeze buses, which offer service from the City of Hamilton to Dockyard; and by the Sea Express ferry from Hamilton, and from St. George's in the summer. Children under 5 ride buses and ferries for free. Visitors can also take advantage of the free train shuttle within Dockyard when cruise ships are in port or the boundless taxis and minibuses available, and Twizy recharge stations are available at Dockyard as well. For more information on transportation, please visit the Dockyard Visitor Services Centre, located in the gazebo on Dockyard Terrace adjacent to the Ferry Pier, or call 296-9400.

FUN FOR THE ENTIRE FAMILY

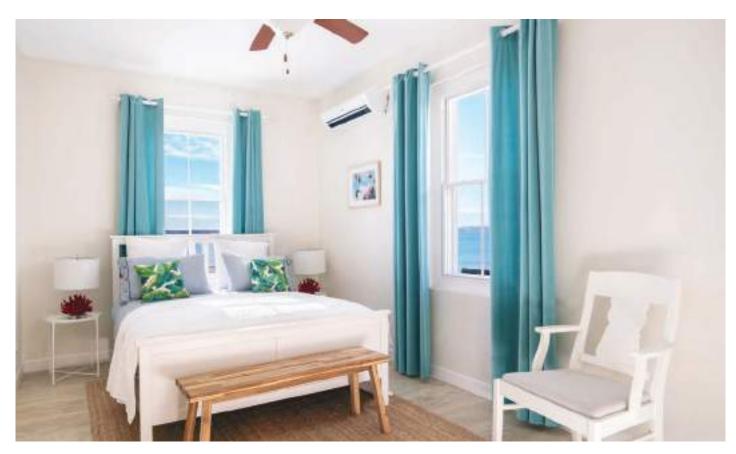

There's something for everyone here, so you're sure to find an activity to suit your taste. Several options for a fun day on the water include Jet Ski rentals, banana boat tubing, parasailing, kayaks, glass-bottom boat tours, snorkelling and scuba outings, and sailing and high-speed catamarans, which depart directly from the Watersports Centre in Royal Naval Dockyard. Enjoy a little friendly competition at Bermuda Fun Golf, an 18-hole mini golf course situated on an acre of oceanfront property designed after famous holes in the U.S., Scotland and Bermuda. Visitors can even personally interact with dolphins, from short 30-minute encounters to a full day of working alongside the dolphin's trainers.

ROYALTY

Prince Alfred Terrace boasts views fit for any royal family.

ORIGINALLY BUILT IN THE

1840S, the terraces were constructed as married officer quarters on what was part of a 200-acre plot on Ireland Island, which had been purchased to create Royal Naval Dockyard, a vital base for the Royal Navy until the mid-1990s.

By 2016, the terraces — named after Prince Alfred, Queen Victoria's son, who visited Bermuda whilst serving in the Royal Navy — had fallen into a state of disrepair and had sustained serious hurricane damage, but their full potential was realised when it was announced that Bermuda would be home to the 2017 America's Cup.

A decision was made to return Prince Alfred Terrace to its former glory, and apartments were created to house The America's Cup Operations Centre and America's Cup Officials. Following the event, the apartments were made available for vacation rentals and have been extremely popular with visitors enjoying the opportunity to experience a rich part of Bermuda's history.

The 10 three-bedroom apartments are superbly equipped with modern kitchens and bathrooms, as well as a laundry in each apartment; but one of the best features is the incredible views they afford over the Great Sound. Wander down to the sea front and lounge in an area specifically designed to let you relax and take in the breathtaking views with a glass of wine in hand.

For more information, visit princealfredterrace.com.

A fully packed events calendar rounds out the offerings at Dockyard, where visitors can watch historical re-enactments of 19th-century Dockyard life with a free walking tour on Tuesdays and Fridays from April 16 to October 29, beginning at 9:30 a.m. This interactive and educational re-enactment is suitable for all ages and depicts life in Royal Naval Dockyard during the 1800s complete with knowledgeable guides and actors dressed in full period costume. Walk amid the historic walls of the Dockyard and truly experience what life must have been like for those who walked the same paths so long ago.

Another way visitors can take a deeper look at Dockyard is with a living arts guided walking tour, led by a local historian with an eye for art. Meet the resident glass makers, woodworkers, maritime artists, potters, jewellers, and more on Thursdays from April 18 to October 31 at 9:30 a.m. beginning at the Moongate on the pier.

Dockyard is the place to be on Monday evenings in summer for Destination Dockyard, a free interactive cultural experience on the North Lawn, celebrating everything Bermuda has to offer: artistic expression, contemporary technology, heritage and culture. Enjoy local cuisine, sporting demonstrations, an amazing combination of local performers and musicians, virtual reality games, an interactive artistic journey and so much more from 7 to 10 p.m. July 1 through August 26, 2019. It's a true sampling of the breadth and depth of all that Bermuda and her people have to offer.

Stop by the Visitor Services Centre in the gazebo on Dockyard Terrace to pick up a map, guide or up-to-date information on Royal Naval Dockyard events, attractions and tours. You can also pick up your public transportation passes and tokens for the buses and ferries.
